FOREWORD

The Florida Artist Group held its Eighth Annual Symposium and Exhibition at the Morse Gallery of Art at Rollins College, Winter Park, Florida, on May 3, 4 and 5, 1957.

Membership in the Florida Artist Group is limited to 125 active professional artists, each of whom may submit one work to the annual exhibition. Of these, 105 members sent paintings to the Eighth Annual. Eleven applicants for membership sent paintings for the consideration of the state-wide membership committee; four were admitted and are listed on the back cover of the present catalogue.

The juror, Robert B. Hale of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, selected 33 paintings from the 105 entries, to form the Eighth Annual circuit exhibition.

With a foundation of 70 members in 1949, the organization has grown by degrees through the admission of artists who have gained recognition as professionals, to the point of limiting the membership to accommodate available hanging space; the present membership of 125 amply represents the state of Florida and is within the scope of volunteer administration of its affairs by its elected officers.

Florida Artist Group exhibitions are juried by the one-man jury system, always a man of national stature in the art world. Such distinguished leaders in the field of art as Robert Parsons, Bartlett Hayes, Jr., Lamar Dodd, Homer Saint-Gaudens, Wilbur David Peat, and Thomas M. Beggs have served as jurors in previous years.

SYMPOSIUM

The Annual Symposium and Exhibition is held at a different city of Florida each year, with the exception that the first and second occasions were held under the auspices of the University of Florida at Gainesville, since which time Clearwater, Sarasota, Daytona Beach, West Palm Beach, Bradenton and Winter Park have entertained the Group.

In April, 1956, at the Seventh Annual Symposium in Bradenton, Hugh McKean, President of Rollins College, invited the Group to meet in the spring of 1957 as guests of the Art Department of Rollins College and President and Mrs. Hugh McKean. The Langford Hotel was official quarters for the session, with the Members' Meeting Friday afternoon and the Panel Discussion Saturday morning held at the Morse Gallery on the college campus.

The Panel Discussion Saturday morning was one of interest and humor. Regarding the Eighth Annual Exhibition, members of the panel commented as follows: Robert B. Hale, Associate Curator of American Art of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York City and sole juror for this year's exhibition, — "The technicality in this exhibition is of unusually high order and cheerfulness is apparent"; Miss Emily A. Francis of the Contemporary Arts Center, New York, thought it "well rounded and in spots dramatic"; Robert Hunter, a past president of the Florida Artist Group and now of Atlanta noted "a great variety, - that each painting in its own class is high in quality"; Willis Woods, Director of the Norton Gallery and School of Art, West Palm Beach, replied to the question of how he liked the present exhibition, saying, "It seems to me that I have seen most of this before. I am not sure we should pat ourselves on the back. There is little here that is new. I wish, to tell the truth, I could find more magnificent failures here." Then he hastened to add, "Of course, there are some things here I like." There is always something aroused by viewing paintings by familiar artists who are constantly striving with different medias to convey their "message."

The popularity of these Annual Circuit Exhibitions has been such that it has been a hard job to get them back home again. The Sixth Annual has just been returned to Bradenton for dispersal, following two years on the road. The Seventh Annual has been out for a year, with bookings to be filled which will keep it out for the greater part of a second year. This Eighth Annual starts out with its first booking for June at The Georgia Museum of Art, University of Georgia, at Athens, and subsequent scheduling for a full year. There are thirty-three paintings, including seven special mentions which were chosen for the Eighth Annual Circuit by the juror, Robert B. Hale.

Ralph H. McKelvey

This spring, shortly before the Eighth annual convention, the Florida Artist Group lost its beloved President, and original founder of the Group, Ralph Huntington McKelvey of Bradenton.

At an age when most men would be considering retirement, Mr. McKelvey gave his entire energy and mentality in the service of Florida's art and artists, unstintingly and with no thought of reward.

Such genuinely unselfish devotion to others seems often to be little appreciated, but still cannot fail to make itself felt in the world in time; Mr. McKelvey, through his tireless efforts, made a contribution to art in Florida which will become more and more apparent as time goes on.

Although he was, at the time of his death, Director of the new Bradenton Art Center, and had been Director of the Sarasota Art Association and the Florida Gulf Coast Group of Clearwater, the Florida Artist Group was his particular interest and pride; he invented it, visualizing it at the outset in its completed form, as something far beyond what he regarded as its present transitional stage of development.

It remains for the artists of Florida to make a final reality of this creative idea, as he knew they would, and as they will.
